

Eldo Avila received his Ph.D. degrees in Physics in 1994 and he was a postdoctoral research associate in Manchester, UK in 1997-1998. He is currently Full Professor in the Facultad de Matematica, Astronomia y Fisica of the National University of Cordoba, Argentina.

His focus is studying microphysical processes in thunderstorm charging involving laboratory studies.